THE NAM HAI - HOI AN, VIETNAM

The Nam Hai offers a uniquely luxurious perch from which to explore this culturally significant and visually stimulating region of Vietnam. Tour the nearby 15th century UNESCO World Heritage town of Hoi An on foot or by cyclo, stopping in at one of 200 plus tailors and cobblers for something bespoke or hunt for Vietnamese lacquer wares, jades, pearls and silk; explore the unusual Marble Mountains, ten minutes by car, before UNESCO declares them a World Heritage Site and go further to see the magnificent ruins of Hue and My Son, considered the most sacred place during the ancient Champa Kingdom. Come back to indulge among Hoi An's diverse gourmet eateries or take a Vietnamese cooking class in The Nam Hai's shiny show kitchen before dining on the fruits of your labour.

Facilities

Stimulating facilities promise indulgence beyond pools and palm trees at The Nam Hai. Fresh, delectable choices await you among three distinctive restaurants. Perhaps an East meets West breakfast on the outdoor deck, authentic Mediterranean flavours at midday, sundowners overlooking water gardens in The Bar, then watch the chef prepare Vietnamese seafood in the open kitchen after dark. Nip into The Library anytime for current international magazines, engrossing books on Vietnam and the practicalities of Internet equipped computer workstations. Nestled between the tennis court and organic gardens is our just for Kids' Activities Villa, where The Nam Hai's youngest guests are entertained by experienced, English speaking counsellors.
